

HISTORY

History is a valued part of our curriculum as it gives us a sense of identity. We aim to fire the children's curiosity about the past in Britain and the world. History is about real people who lived in the past and real events which happened, set in a context of time. History is concerned with sequence, time, chronology and is the study of evidence from the past. History helps children to understand the proves of change, the diversity of societies and relationships between different groups. This understanding comes from the study of life in the past, of thoughts, beliefs, emotions, actions and artefacts. The children find evidence, consider it and reach their own conclusions. In order to do this, they look through evidence and discuss their points of view.
